

2018 Cathay Century Insurance PSI Disclosure Report

Message from the President

The greatest little things contribute to the beauty of sustainability

Under the vision of "sustainable development," many people overlook the fact that it is the seemingly negligible little things that have the ability to change every thing. When Da Vinci was painting the Mona Lisa, the greatest painting in history, he choose the smallest brush he had ever used!

Cathay Century was established over two decades ago. Over the years, we have served the role to lead by example with a people-oriented approach to sustainability. We hope to build a consensus among all employees and give full play to the core competency of property insurance for "loss prevention and compensation," taking the lead in sustainability actions to fulfill our corporate social responsibility.

As the first property insurance company in Taiwan to comply with the Principles for Sustainable Insurance (PSI), Cathay Century encourages employees to start from the heart and change the environment from the little things in sustainability practices, such as: increasing the utilization of digital management tools and establishing a paperless, low carbon marketing process, so as to reduce the impact of the service process on the environment. Furthermore, we incorporated our core competency of loss control into care for social welfare, and promoted risk management knowledge and provided professional testing to elementary schools, colleges, corporate fleets, and companies free of charge.

Following the growing impact of climate changes on the world, Cathay Century will integrate its insurance business with environmental protection initiatives, and will actively invest in the development of green insurance products, such as: the industry's first green vehicle insurance, public bicycle insurance, and insurance for the solar power, offshore wind power, and hydropower industries, to support the transition to green and renewable energy industries. Furthermore, we also take financial Inclusion seriously with issues covering elderly risk management, disaster compensation for farmers, and care for the underprivileged. We hope that one day Cathay Century will be able to contribute to creating utopia through insurance, so that everyone will have coverage through universal insurance.

We believe that sustainability is not something that happens over night. The smallest action beats the greatest plan. In the future, I will lead Cathay Century towards sustainability, joining hands with employees, policy holders, and the general public in taking action that will bring us towards a better and more sustainable living environment, thereby achieve the vision of true happiness that comes from the heart.
